FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 31 MAY 2025

Financial markets delivered another month of positive returns in May, continuing the rebound seen in April. Investor sentiment was lifted by progress in global trade discussions, particularly the decision by the US to postpone new tariffs on the EU. This helped reduce fears of a global slowdown and supported gains across equity markets. US equities led the way, supported by strong corporate earnings and a renewed appetite for growth-oriented sectors. Smaller companies also rallied as proposed policy changes looked favourable for domestic businesses. European markets followed suit, buoyed by improved outlooks and signs of fiscal support. Emerging markets (EMs) benefitted from a weaker US dollar, with notable strength in Asian equity markets. Fixed-income markets were more volatile. A downgrade to the US sovereign credit rating and weaker demand for long-dated bonds prompted a sell-off in government debt mid-month. However, stabilising inflation expectations helped anchor yields by month-end. South Africa (SA) released its "Budget 3.0", emphasising infrastructure-led growth. While the absence of a VAT increase preserved consumer support, it also widened the projected budget deficit, increasing the concern surrounding the country's fiscal position. The portfolio outperformed its benchmark and peers, supported by our strategic overweight to local assets and selective EMs. Strong returns from SA asset classes as well as our tactical exposure to Brazil and China contributed meaningfully, reflecting the benefits of our active positioning and conviction in undervalued regions.
